

PRESENT PRIMARY PLAN WORSE THAN JOKE IS REPORT

Delegate Conventions Better to Select Par- ty Nominees

(By the Associated Press.)
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 23.—Confusion resulting from the multiplicity of names on ballots under the primary election plan makes this system "worse than a joke; it's a scandal," a special committee reported today to the national conference of commissioners on uniform state laws in

The report submitted by a committee appointed to investigate drafting of a uniform primary law for federal offices for all the states, reported that the primary plan is inadvisable and that "deliberate conventions are better prepared to choose party nominees."

The report was signed by James M. Graham, Springfield, Illinois, chairman; Frank E. Curley, Tucson, Ariz.; Earle W. Evans, Wichita, Kans.; Merrill M. Moore, Indianapolis, Ind.; Charles J. Morrow, Tampa, Fla.; Willis L. Strachan, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Fred S. Tyler, Washington, D. C., and Nathan W. McChesney, Chicago.

"After due consideration of the matter, your committee respectfully reports that in their judgment a uniform primary act for the selection of federal officers is inadvisable," the report states. "A consideration of the principle involved together with observation of the practical working of primary election laws in those jurisdictions where such laws are in operation lead us to believe that they have not overdone their work in this respect, and that they lead to other evils as great or greater than those they were intended to correct."

"The multiplicity of names is worse than a joke; it's a scandal. As most voters do not know or even guess the names of candidates, the result is a haphazard offer for the first on the list merely because his name is first."

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 23.—Led by five nurses, twenty-five patients in the David Prince Sanitarium were led to safety today when fire which caused $60,000 damage broke out in the third floor of the structure.

Dr. N. S. Penick was treating a patient when he was notified that an awning was on fire. He threw a bucket of water on the blaze and notified an attendant who apparently had extinguished it with a chemical.

A few moments after he had left the seemingly quenched fire, the entire roof was ablaze. The patients were taken to nearby offices.

Recalls Early Days of Morgan County

The following is a part of the address delivered by Hon. Milton Riggs of Winchester at the Morgan county centennial celebration at the chautauqua Wednesday afternoon. Other paragraphs from Mr. Riggs' splendid address will be given in a later issue: Jacksonville, Aug. 22, 1923. Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I understand the purpose of today's exercises is to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Morgan county, and your speaker has been honored with an invitation to address you, an honor which is appreciated, but the appreciation is accompanied by a fear that the best selection has not been made.

Morgan county was created by the State legislature on the 31st day of January, 1823, a little over four years after our State had been admitted into the family of American Commonwealths. It got its name from General Daniel Morgan, a brave revolutionary officer. When created it contained 1175 square miles, and was larger than the State of Rhode Island.

When the general assembly passed the act that authorized its organization as one of the County municipalities of Illinois, not a human being lived where the beautiful city of Jacksonville now stands with its thousands of prosperous and happy people.

If we can get a mental picture of the primordial condition of the area of country contained in the original Morgan County at the time when, on the 30th day of July, 1819, the Kickapoo Indians, by treaty signed at Edwardsville, relinquished all claim to this portion of the State, and then compare that picture with the wonderful scene it presents at present, it would help us to appreciate what the pioneer settlers, their descendants and successors have done in reducing a wild, unsettled country to a state fitted for the habitations and enterprises of an educated, industrious, progressive people.

Imagine nearly 200 square miles of primitive land, chiefly prairie, with creeks, skirted by timber, flowing through it to the Illinois river, and beautiful groves here and there, luxuriant grass growing everywhere on the prairie portion, and beautiful wild flowers blooming everywhere, all untouched, unmannered by the hand of civilization. Imagine deer grazing on the verdure, bear and other wild animals inhabiting the groves and the strips of woodland along the streams, all undisturbed, since the Kickapoo ceased to claim it as a hunting ground.

Get this mental picture, and then place beside it, in your minds, the same parcel of country as it is today, with beautiful, well cultivated farms, pastures and their grazing herds, fields promising a marvelous yield of corn; evidences of an already harvested, bountiful wheat crop, beautiful farm homes, and the well-kept cities and towns—Jacksonville, Beardstown, Virginia, Ashland, Waverly, Winchester, Bluffs, Chapin, and other smaller municipalities, all pulsating with happy human life; and you will be able, in some degree, to see and appreciate what has been accomplished in the original territory of Old Morgan by the pioneers, their descendants and successors. It presents a wonderful transformation, the beginnings of which were accomplished by the courage and sacrifices of the pioneer settlers—those who left old homes, the friends of youth, and came to the primeval area which the original Morgan county contained, and endured the deprivations and hardships of the frontier life of that period, when there were no railroads and very imperfect facilities for communicating with relatives and friends in the old homes.

One real picture of a portion of Old Morgan today—not a reproduction on paper, or in mere words, but the reality, may be seen, between Winchester and Jacksonville, in June, when the bluegrass is in bloom, the wheat is beginning to ripen, corn is in its growing period and the green pastures are beautified by grazing herds.

I have often traveled the road between those two cities, at the season I have in mind, and have said again and again, "surely there can not be a more beautiful agricultural scene." It presents a real agricultural panorama, at that season, when viewed from the mound neighborhood, a little west of Jacksonville. And this particular locality is not the only fertile, beautiful and naturally favored portion of the territory of Old Morgan. Others may be found in the present Morgan, and in Cass and Scott counties.

This region was naturally provided with all the qualities and properties necessary for successful farming and stock raising, and it has been wisely devoted mainly to those purposes. Naturally, it was a rich, fertile and beautiful tract of country. But with all its fertility and beauty it would not, it left in its pristine condition, have contributed materially to the good of mankind.

The courage, energy, industry and intelligence of the pioneer were necessary to bring this magnificent portion of the earth's surface into a state of human usefulness.

And the pioneer came, first in small numbers, but soon after the Indian disappeared the numbers increased numerically. The immigration so increased that, according to the federal census of 1830, Old Morgan then had 12,714 inhabitants.

In 1821, two years before Old Morgan came into existence, according to an authority believed to be reliable, there were 20 pioneer families occupying what now composes the three counties. How many persons were in those twenty families we have no means of knowing—probably not over a hundred. Now, from the federal census reports of 1920, we learn that the present Morgan County has a population of 33,567; Cass county 17,596, and "Little Scott" 9,489, making a total population of 60,652 in the territorial compass of these three counties, which contained not more than a few hundred when Old Morgan entered the community of Illinois counties. Of this total population Jacksonville has 15,718 and Beardstown 7,111. According to the same census both Morgan and Scott counties are decreasing in population, while Cass is slightly increasing. The increase in the latter county is due to the prosperity and growth of the city of Beardstown.

A splendid dinner was served at noon, the menu including all sorts of good things. More than 600 gallons of soup and 400 pounds of fish were disposed of, besides quantities of other eatables. The program of the afternoon included an address by Hon. C. F. Townley, of the head camp of the Modern Woodmen of the World.

STILL A PET

The flicker, bird of the woodpecker variety, which was rescued when helpless by Miss Ann Jackson and tenderly reared by her and turned loose when able to care for himself, doesn't forget his kind benefactress, but calls five or six times a day to be fed though he becomes a bit less tame from day to day.

One rainy morning he came a little later than usual and alighting on her dressing gown remained there for fifteen minutes, pecking her neck and shoulders and warming himself. She receives him at the window of her room upstairs and he seems always glad to see the one who has been so good to him. He will soon have his new fall suit. He rejoices in the name of "Christopher Morley."

KING NEPTUNE DEDICATES POOL

Interesting Exhibition Given at Swimming Pool Yesterday by W. E. Longfellow, Miss Stevens and Albert Bray.

About fifteen or twenty swimmers appeared at the Nichols park pool Thursday morning to take advantage of the special lesson given by Commodore W. E.
Longfellow assisted by Miss Stevens, about 100 spectators being present to witness the demonstrations.

During the afternoon Chautauqua session the Commodore took the platform and announced that at the close of the afternoon program a special water program would be carried out at the pool and as a result from 1200 to 1500 people appeared for the performance at 4:45 o'clock. King Neptune in full costume, impersonated by Commodore Longfellow, accompanied by a mermaid in flowing draperies, in the personage of Miss Stevens, appeared from the bottom of the pool.
King Neptune addressed the crowd, telling them that they had come from the deep seas by way of the Mississippi river and that after he had looted over the situation in this locality and had tried out the local pool he had concluded that the pool was fit to become a part of the realm of King Neptune and that he dedicated the Jacksonville pool to health, life and pleasure. He further stated that Davy Jones was very much incensed on account of the instructions that were being given all over the United States in life saving, on account of the fact that fewer persons were going to Davy Jones' locker. In closing his speech King Neptune said that he and his mermaid would retire to their home in the ocean and that he would send some Earth People to give demonstrations in swimming and life saving.

At the close of his talk they both disappeared under the water and after removing their paraphernalia they again arose to the surface and gave a splendid lecture and exhibition of the history of swimming from the time of the cave men, thru the 16th century when the breast stroke was first used down to the present time. The Commodore was assisted by Miss Stevens and Albert Bray. Another interesting feature was the performance given by Miss Rose Weber, who weighs about 80 pounds, when she rescued and brought to shore
when he was apparently sinking for the last time, Commodore Longfellow who tips the scales
at 260 pounds.

Commodore Longfellow will probably leave this afternoon for a short stay in Peoria, where he will inspect the swimming pools
in the parks of that city.

The afternoon's water program was closed by one half hour's fancy swimming and diving, after which the swimming class took possession of the pool.

SELF-CONFESSED
MEMBERS OF KLAN
PLEADED GUILTY

Admitted to the Flogging of Ben Wagner, Farmer

(By the Associated Press)

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 23.—Coming as a sensational climax to the tenth day of Adjutant General Baird H. Markham's investigation of floggings in Tulsa county, Ben F. Sikes, Grover C. Sikes, and Earl Sack of Broken Arrow, self-confessed members of the Ku Klux Klan, pleaded guilty tonight to rioting charges before District Judge W. B. Williams and were sentenced to serve two years each in the state penitentiary.

This is the first instance on record in which Klansmen have confessed in court that they were members of a flogging party and the first time sentence has ever been passed in the entire country on Klans for participation in a mob outrage, state officers here believe.

The Sikes brothers, and Sack were brought before acting County Judge Luther Lane and waived their arraignment and preliminary hearing. Thirty minutes later they entered pleas of guilty before District Judge Williams and were sentenced after Ed Crossland, their attorney and Assistant Attorney General C. W. King, recommended they be given the minimum punishment—two years. The maximum is 10 years. Simultaneously in county court four other men were arraigned

AIR MAIL PLANES
CROSS CONTINENT
AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Make Trip in 27 Hours 56 Minutes 4 Minutes Under Time

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Running ahead of schedule, mail planes landed in New York and San Francisco today, completing the second trans-continental test flight while two other mail planes were speeding across the continent ahead of their schedules in their third test flight. The plane carrying mail that left the Golden Gate yesterday morning in the second flight landed at New York at 12:22 P. M., spanning the continent in 27 hours and 55 minutes, four minutes under the estimated 28 hours.

The westbound plane with its burden of letters from the Atlantic seaboard completed its trip across the country when it landed at San Francisco at 1:45 o'clock, two and one-half hours ahead of its estimated time.

Meanwhile the third flight gave promise of equalling or bettering the record of the second. The mail that left New York this morning reached at 5:59 P. M. Central Standard Time and the plane carrying it hopped off two minutes later, 59 minutes ahead and with prospects of gaining a greater lead during the night flight over the 885 miles of lighted airway to Cheyenne.

The fifth flight scheduled for Saturday was called off to give the aviators a rest. It was announced by Postmaster General New at Washington who added that the tests had fully proven the feasibility of trans-continental mail plane service.

Planes were scheduled to start from New York and San Francisco tomorrow on the fourth flight.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eades,

The travelers visited the cemetery where the body of the late president, Warren G. Harding, lies in a vault awaiting the completion of a fitting tomb. A company of U. S. regulars from Cleveland is guarding the vault, the soldiers being encamped in the cemetery.

The elaborate floral tributes presented at the funeral by representatives of the nation and potentates from every country of earth have been chemically preserved and are on exhibition around the presidential vault. Some of the most beautiful and expensive floral designs are in the group. Day and night soldiers stand silent vigil about the vault and its galaxy of flowers that continue to speak the homage of a bereaved nation.

POTTERY 4,000 YEARS
HAS BEEN UNEARTHED

STOCKHOLM.—(By the A. P.) Swedish archeologists have lately discovered an unusual number of relics that date back twenty to thirty centuries B. C., the latest find being a tomb and shrine of heathen worship of the Stone Age estimated about 4,000 years old.

This tomb is situated in Lacka laenga, Skane, the most southern province of Sweden, and until a short time ago it lay buried beneath ten different strata of earth. Built of large stone slabs it has a central chamber about ten feet by five. Around it is a circular pavement of slabs, from which radiate a number of curious walks marked by stones. A considerable quantity of human and animal bones were found, together with flint daggers and spear heads.

But the most interesting discovery was that of about 700 fragments of ornamental vases, which had been thickly strewn outside the tomb. The shattering of these vases probably took place, according to the archeologists, in connection with heathen religious ceremonies. The shaping of the weapons and the ornamentation of the vases indicate an advanced civilization.

The Lacka laenga tomb is estimated to be about 4,000 years old but the Swedes have evidence that their country was inhabited at least 1,000 years before this tomb was built. A skeleton of that period, now on exhibition in Gothenburg, was found in an ancient oyster bed, many miles inland from the present seacoast, at a point from which the sea began receding during the Stone Age.

JOURNEYS 5,000 MILES
IN SEARCH OF BOOK

CHICAGO.—(By the A. P.)—A journey of 5,000 miles in search of a priceless book! Pierce Butler of the Newberry Library here has just returned from his second trip to Europe in quest of the first volume ever printed in Italy, 458 years ago. He found it in a German book shop of Frankfurt and returned a year after his discovery to make the purchase.

Mr. Butler wandered thru Germany, Italy, Austria, Czechoslovakia and returned with 235 books printed prior to 1500, all of them precious in the eyes of collectors and antiquaries. But the prize of the trip is the collected works of Lactantius, church father of the fourth century, printed by the pioneers who first set up a publishing house in Italy.

This volume was issued by Conrad Sweinhelm and Arnoldus Panartz, two Germans, who had learned the art of printing, so the story goes, from Gutenberg himself, the inventor of printing. To gather they carried the new art into Italy and were welcomed by the interested monks of Subiaco, where they set up their press.

The Lactantius is highly prized, because it is said to be the first copy extant of a book printed in Italy. The first volume from the press of Subiaco was a school book, authorities say, and probably was thumbed out of existence. No copy is now available. Later these pioneer printers issued Cicero's "Orator," a best seller in its day, and St. Augustine's equally popular "City of God." Then they went to Rome, where they entered business for themselves.

Another book obtained by Mr. Butler is the first published at Lisbon, Portugal, "A Commentary of the Pentateuch" in Hebrew by Moses ben Machmann and published by Eliezer Tolendano in 1489. This volume is rare and like the Lactantius is interesting to students of early printing.

A third find considered precious by Mr. Butler is the first edition of Euclid, the famous Greek mathematician, published at Venice in 1482.

Books published before 1500 are valued highly by collectors. The Newberry Library has built up one of the largest collections in the United States of these volumes and now has a total of 950. A representative goes to Europe every year to make purchases for the collection.

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce was held last night, with vice president J. W. Merrigan presiding. A report was received on the tourist reception committee, stating that its members were making daily trips to the park to greet tourists, and that thru arrangements with the chautauqua board tourists were allowed to enter the grounds free of charge. This move has earned high praise from the tourists and has given the city wide publicity. Signs directing travellers to this city are being placed at points within a radius of 30 miles.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS IN SESSION

Picnic at Tent of Member Pre-luded Fine Address on County Government

The Morgan county branch of the Illinois League of Women Voters met last night in the big tent at the chautauqua grounds after a picnic at the tent of Mrs. Lillian I. Danks, Governor Charles Brough, of Arkansas, and Mrs. William Wallace Ramsey of Chicago, noted woman political scientist were the guests of honor.

The meeting opened at 6:30 o'clock and Mrs. Ramsey took the platform. She delivered a strong address on county government.

The speaker held that though we have made great progress in municipal reform there has been practically no important changes in county organization in the last 600 years.

"In some counties the representatives of the city in the county territory are in a majority and the city gets everything, while the country gets a little bit more than nothing. In other counties the situation is reversed. Most counties at present have a much greater number of commissioners than your own, some having as many as 50 and 60.

One local resident, speaking of Sangamon county, said that there were so many commissioners that a special train had to be chartered at great expense to take them to visit the poor farm.

"One of the chief evils of the present system," said Mrs. Ramsey, "is the way it is possible for commissioners to pass the buck one to the other. The authority is not centralized.

"Under the present system patronage is, in most cities, indulged in. The county boss has so many jobs to give away that he often develops into the state boss.

"Cook county is taking a forward step however. She has appointed an efficiency expert to examine her system and see if it is not possible to introduce modern business methods so that the taxpayers' money will be saved."

UNION BAND MET AND ORGANIZED LAST NIGHT

Rehearsals Will Start Next Week
—Officers of Organization are Elected—

Union musicians of the city met in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night and elected officers for the new union band. There was a good attendance and much interest was shown in the organization.

The band will be known as Jacksonville A. F. of M. Band, Local No. 128. While there are enough first class union musicians in the city to form a band of 40 or more members, it is likely that the organization will be limited to twenty or possibly thirty.

It was decided at this meeting to order a new $300 bass horn subject to approval. The next business meeting will be held Friday, August 31, and rehearsals will start next week. These will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms but the night has not yet been selected.

Charles A. Sheppard was chosen as director of the new band. Mr. Sheppard was for many years cornet soloist with the famous Juvenile and Jeffries band and is a director of ability, having been engaged in that work for a number of years past. The other officers are:

President—John Kearns.
Vice president—Charles Read.
Secretary—William DeBolt.
Treasurer—Terrance Brennan.
Manager—Adam Ehrgott, Jr.

BACK FROM THE SOUTH
Mr. and Mrs. William Grey and Howard Johnson have returned from an extended auto trip to the south taking in the points in Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi. They visited many relatives and friends and report very courteous treatment by both white and colored during their trip. They generally found conditions good in the parts they visited and the people contented. There was a general scarcity of laborers at most of the places visited.

Mr. Grey said when they approached home and saw Nichols park they were rejoiced.

REVIVAL NOTICES
Messages for the rest of this week in the big tent back of the postoffice will be: Christ's second advent and what will take place at His coming. The body of Christ showing how God's people were scattered. The church of God and how God is gathering His people together universal. A hearty invitation is extended to everyone to attend this meeting. If there be any infidels or skeptics in Jacksonville the invitation is for you also. Come and hear these spirit filled messages.

Senator Gore Was Chautauqua Speaker

Senator Gore spoke at the chautauqua yesterday afternoon after a concert by the Neapolitan Serenaders. The gentleman, who hampered by blindness thruout his life, has kept well abreast and perhaps a little ahead of the times. He gave no title to his discourse, touching on many subjects of interest and importance in the America of today.

Perhaps the main thought in Senator Gore's speech was "What Cannot be Done by Legislation." He held that at present there are many who think that the farmers troubles can be remedied by legislation. This is one of the things that legislation cannot accomplish. Farming, as all industries, is governed by the immutable laws of supply and demand.

The present crisis is a direct consequence of the world war. We have raised more wheat than we can consume. Europe, on the other hand, has a good crop of its own besides being barred from trade by an adverse exchange and real poverty. It is not that the American farmer is raising more wheat than a hungry world can eat; it is that America is growing more than a war ridden and poverty stricken world can pay for.

The Ruhr
I feel that if America can do anything to make Europe stable it should be done. Our own prosperity is so intertwined with that of Europe that we cannot be prosperous without them so.

France and Belgium are keeping their armies in the Ruhr, Germany's greatest industrial district. They are hampering German industry and hampering their own by keeping thousands of able bodied men in the army instead of in factories and fields. France wants fifteen billion dollars of reparations; Great Britain wants Germany to pay twelve. France owes England three billion dollars and so if England could be persuaded to take her pay in German bonds then France would have the sum that she wants and Germany would be able to get down to work at producing again. England wants France to be easy with Germany because she feels that if Germany is ruined economically she will be ruined politically, and if that comes to pass bolshevism will come to western Europe and the civilization of the world will be obliterated.

Neapolitan Serenaders
The Neapolitan Serenaders proved a real treat to chautauqua goers last evening. Their work was excellent and greatly appreciated by the audience. In the afternoon and the first part of the evening they presented a concert program. After the evening intermission several selections from the comic opera Martha were presented in costume.

Six artists are enrolled in the company. Among these are Fred Goodwin, baritone, and William Mitchell, tenor, who played on the Orpheum circuit last winter. Their solos were appreciated by the audience as well as those of Miss Betty Baxter, contralto, who is signed up for the Apollo club of Chicago next winter.

The trio from Faust was one of the numbers that received applause in the classical side of the concert. Many popular airs were placed on the bill to make a well rounded program.

BRADY BROS. TO MAKE TOWING DEMONSTRATION
Saturday afternoon between three and four o'clock Brady Bros., Hdwe. Co., will prove the strength of the Pennsylvania Ton Tested tube by using one as tow rope.

A big Dodge Bros. truck will be towed around the square by a smaller Dodge truck using an ordinary stock tube for the demonstration. This date, August 25th has been designated by the Pennsylvania Rubber Co., as Illinois Towing Demonstration Day, and similar feats will take place in other cities throughout Illinois.

As the best casing is at the mercy of a poor tube, the object of this demonstration is to prove conclusively that with a Pennsylvania Ton Tested Tube in your casing, you are safe. Right at this time, Brady Bros., are giving a tube free with every casing sold, and the recent reduction in price of 15 percent plus the free tube means 30 percent saving to tire buyers.

WON MEDAL AT FIRST LOCAL CHAUTAUQUA

Henry Jackson, Winner of Gold Medal as Oldest County Resident at Chautauqua, Won Similar Prize 14 Years Ago

It has come to light that Henry Jackson, the venerable man who won the gold medal for being the oldest resident of Morgan county at the chautauqua Wednesday, also won a similar prize for being the oldest man present at the first Jacksonville chautauqua, 14 years ago.

The old gentleman is well preserved for one of his years and, except for deafness, is as wide awake and comprehending as anyone.

Mr. Jackson was born in March 1827 on a farm three miles northeast of Jacksonville. He can remember the city when there were only five houses south of the brook.

"I remember once," said the patriarch, "when a nigger and I cradled wheat on the grounds of the insane asylum in 1847. They were just building the first crazy house then and a friend of mine had his wheat spoiled by the workmen. We wanted to put in a bill for damages but he said the price of wheat was so low that it wouldn't pay to make a fuss.

"My first vote was cast in 1848 for the second constitution of Illinois. In politics I have never stuck to one party, having voted in my days for the Democrats, the Republicans and the Prohibitionists."

The old man was shown his great great granddaughter, the baby of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Curry. When he was informed as to who she was he was quite overcome with happiness and took the baby in his arms. What gave him the greatest pleasure of all was the silky red hair on his little descendant's head.

INTERESTING TOPICS BY HEALTH TEACHERS

Fletcher, Health Builder, Will Lecture on Two Popular Subjects Today—Many Children
in Classes.

"The Power of Mind over Body, or Auto Suggestion and its Application," will be the topic of U. G. Fletcher, noted physical culture expert, at his morning lecture at ten o'clock at the chautauqua grounds today. Mr. Fletcher will be able to explain a great many of the seemingly miraculous cures that have been made and will doubtless have something to say on the famous Coue and his system. He and M. Coue both received education in Auto Suggestion from the same teacher.

In the afternoon after the regular program Mr. Fletcher will speak on another topic, one that interests entirely too many people. His subject will be "The Scientific Method of Reducing Fat."

Many children are coming to the calisthenics classes that Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher operate in the morning in the pavilion. The first morning of their stay here they had a class of only twenty-five. Yesterday they had seventy-five and Mr. Fletcher expects to have 125 in his last class here, which will be held Saturday morning.

Mr. Fletcher is a graduate in physical culture of Ralston University in Washington, D. C. He was for some time physical director and coach of Westfield college near Charleston, Illinois. At one time he was physical director of the Y. M. C. A. in Danville and later taught private classes in that city. At the time he left there for Springfield he had over 700 regularly enrolled private pupils.

State's Attorney Carl E. Ex-Gov. Charles H. Brough of Arkansas was a guest at the Ki-

MOTORISTS ENJOYED TRIP TO NORTHWEST

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Gray, daughter Elizabeth and son Martin, Mr. and Mrs. George Stold and daughter Eleanor, have returned to Jacksonville after a delightful trip to Canada and the northwest. They were absent three weeks and encountered good weather during the whole period. The absence of car trouble was another factor which added to the pleasure of the trip. They visited Cleveland, Buffalo, and Detroit and camped for a few days on the Canadian side of Niagara Falls. Enroute home they passed thru Marion, Ohio and viewed the receiving vault in which was placed the body of the late president.

THIRD PARTY TALK AROUSES CONCERN

Republican and Democratic Politicians Wondering What Might Happen in Case of Deadlock in Electoral College.

Washington.—(A. P.)—With rumors of a third party movement thickening the political atmosphere, Republican and Democratic politicians are figuring on what might happen should a presidential free-for-all next year result in a deadlock in the Electoral College.

One surprising deduction is the remote possibility, conditioned on many "ifs" and "ands," that the "Vive President" might eventually be called upon to cast the deciding vote to determine whether he himself should step into the presidency.

Still beyond that lies the chance, however far removed from the realms of probability, that whoever is secretary of state on March 4, 1925, may automatically become president without a single vote being cast for him in any state or in any part of the governmental mechanism.

Here is the language of the constitution, upon which these freak possibilities are predicated:

"The person having the greatest number of votes for president (in the Electoral College) shall be president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as president, the House of Representatives shall choose, immediately, by ballot, for president."

"But in choosing the president the votes shall be taken by states the representation from each state having one vote, and a majority of all the states shall not choose president whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them before the fourth day of March following then the vice-president shall act as president."

"The person having the greatest number of votes as vice-president shall be the vice-president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list the Senate shall choose a vice-president."

Thus, say the political puzzle-sharks, if a three-cornered fight next year splits the electoral vote into segments each smaller than a majority, the House must make a try at it. But in the House as it now is constituted, and as it will remain except for deaths and resignations up to March 4, 1925, neither the Republicans nor the Democrats can control a majority of the state delegations. With one vote allotted to a state, Twenty-three states would vote Republican, Twenty states Democratic, and five—Maryland, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Montana and New Jersey—having delegations evenly divided between the two parties, presumably would not be able to vote at all.

That, in turn, would seem to fulfill the contingency described in the constitution as requiring the vice-president to become president. But with the Electoral College deadlocked, it first would be the duty of the Senate to choose a vice-president. And in case of a tie, the Vice-President would have the deciding voice.

TRACE SOURCE OF PHRASES

"Kicking the Bucket," for instance, Can Be Traced to Days of California Gold Rush.

The expression, "a pig in a poke," originated in Northampton market, when some wags put a cat in a bag or poke and sold it as a pig to a countryman. When the buyer opened the bag, out jumped the cat. This also gave rise to the expression, "letting the cat out of the bag."

"Kicking the bucket" is a phrase that owes its inception to the days of the great gold rush to California and Australia in 1849-51, says London Tit-Bits. Many unfortunate seekers after gold, losing their all in an unavailing effort to find the precious "dust," committed suicide. The suicide tied a rope to a beam in his hut. Then, standing on an upturned bucket, he would adjust the other end of the rope around his neck. When all was ready he simply kicked the bucket from under his feet.

"Worth a Jew's eye," probably came from the fact that King John extorted large sums of money from Jews under threats of mutilation. All the teeth of one Jew in Bristol were extracted to satisfy the king's rapacity.

From a corruption of the Anglo-Saxon we get the phrase, "as mad as a hatter." It has nothing to do with a "hatter," really. The word "mad" in Anglo-Saxon meant furious, angry, or even venomous, and "adder" meant an "adder or viper." Thus the whole expression really means "as venomous as an adder."

NIAGARA FALLS NOT QUEEN

Wonderful Scenic Masterpiece Is Eclipsed by Some of the World's Other Great Waterways.

Niagara falls are generally looked upon as the most wonderful falls in the world, and the popular impression is that they are also the highest in the world.

But as a matter of fact, the Gersoppa falls in the Western Ghats of South India are, speaking roughly, three times the height of Niagara falls, and surpass also the famous Sutherland falls in New Zealand, the great falls of Kuleter in British Guinea and the famous Victoria falls on the Zambesi river. They are on the Sharavati river in the North Kanava district of Bombay, and occur at a point about 20 miles from the river's mouth, where it plunges into a narrow gorge on its way to the Indian ocean.

The cliff over which the Gersoppa or Jog falls leap is 830 feet high. When there is only a moderate amount of water in the river it is broken into four distinct falls, and the largest, called the Rajah, has an unbroken drop of over 500 feet before it touches a rock. Straight from an overhanging ledge it leaps into the chasm in what may be called a gigantic spout, so far from the precipice behind it that the sun shines in between and the shadow of the water may be seen on the rock at some distance to the side of the fall. The pool beneath it is 132 feet deep.

The Chimpanzee.

Chimpanzee is the native Guinea name for a large ape of equatorial Africa, belonging to the anthropoid or man-like monkeys, and to the same family as the gorilla. It is sometimes five feet tall when full grown, with black hair, but is not so large and powerful as the gorilla. Like the orang-utan, it has the hair on its forearm turned backward, but differs from it in having an additional dorsal vertebra and a thirteenth pair of ribs. It walks erect better than most of the apes. The chimpanzee feeds on fruits, often robs the gardens of the natives, and constructs a sort of nest among the branches. In menageries, where it is common, it shows much intelligence and docility.

As She Understood It.

Late one evening Huffy entered the club looking rather fagged. His friend, Cuthbert, was moved to inquire the wherefore.

"Had a hard evening," explained Huffy.

"Thought you were out playing cards?"

"I was. No more poker with ladies in the game. This finishes it."

"What went wrong?"

"One girl had been told that four of a kind beat anything."

"Well, doesn't it?"

"So she insisted on taking a big pot with four spades."

Turned Jest Into Earnest.

Is there any Canadian parallel for this experience of a pastor in a small Pennsylvania town? The citizens were deaf to all appeals for progress. In his effort to get a new community hall he found himself appointed a committee of one to begin construction. The next morning with pick and shovel, "the committee commenced to function." His spirit electrified the townsfolk to such a degree that they came to the rescue and completed the building.—Montreal Family Herald.

H. C. L.

A wealthy, but tight-fisted clubman was accosted by a beggar who asked for a quarter. The clubman looked at the man sternly for a moment and then said:

"See here, aren't you the man who struck me for a dime three days ago?"

"Yes, sir," said the beggar, "but do me best, I can't keep expenses under 3-13 cents a day."—Philadelphia Record.

Wanted the Situation.

A weary-looking fellow who had opened all the doors looking for work happened to see a huge police advertisement headed:

"Murderer Wanted."

"Well," he said, scratching his head, "it's better'n nothing, anyhow. I'm going in and ask for the job."

LIMIT TIME OF FAIR BABY SHOW ENTRIES

Springfield, Aug. 23.—Due to unusually heavy registration the date for closing entries to the State Fair Better Babies' conference has been moved up from September 7 to Aug. 31, according to an announcement made yesterday by Dr. I. D. Rawlings, state director of public health. "No applications for entry will be honored after August 31," said the director. "This early time limit has been made necessary because the limited quarters and the limited professional staff can not adequately accommodate more than 1,000 babies and the registration to date has passed the 900 mark. The early closing of the entry period will also be an aid to the clerical force in working out appointment schedules so that confusion and misunderstanding will be avoided."

Schedules for examination appointments at the baby conference quarters on the east balcony of the Exposition building in the fair grounds will be mailed out to the parents during the last week before the fair opens.

BURROWS PERIL THE LAND

Much of England Underscored by the Drain on the Resources of Its Coal Fields.

According to an English paper, England, Scotland and Wales together have produced some $500,000,000 tons of coal. Small wonder then that these countries are full of huge holes caused by the abstraction of this mass of mineral. Indeed, so many holes are there, and so much is the land falling in, that in the West Riding of Yorkshire the local council is seeking power from parliament to make mine and royalty owners pay something toward draining the sunken districts.

Doncaster coalfield is of comparatively recent date, but so badly has this district been affected by the mining operations that experts say that Doncaster will stand on a morass in ten years' time. Even now a large area of land has been marked off as quite unfit for building purposes.

From Wakefield to Globe, practically along the whole course of the Don, the country is more or less flooded, and what might be fruitful land simply goes to waste. Roads, too, in this part frequently suffer, and they cost something like $17,000 a mile to resurface.

Naturally, the Black country has suffered a great deal from subterranean workings. They have often caused whole districts to sink, and a few years ago the High street of Cradley Heath dropped suddenly five feet.

The solution of the problem rests in adequate draining of the subterranean areas. Mining is proceeding all the time—drainage ought to follow to counteract the bad effects of boring and blasting—London Mail.

HIS INFLUENCE FOR GOOD

Incident That Shows How Christian Missionary May Lead Heathens Into Grace.

The influence for good that the ordinary Christian layman can wield in foreign lands is often enormous. An English army doctor was once stationed somewhere in the Mohammedan East. He knew only the least smattering of Arabic and could hardly issue orders to his black Sudanese servant, who was a Mohammedan. The Mohammedans, by the way, are considered hopeless subjects for conversion. The doctor, however, was a genuine Christian; he kept his Bible and other religious books always by his camp bed, and he used them daily. His habits of prayer were as regular as any Mohammedan's and he appeared to have derived from them an imperturbable temper and a sunny disposition.

One day he gave his black servant a copy of the Gospel in his own tongue. That was all, but it was enough. Beside the written Gospel was the living commentary, and the black servant was not slow to compare the two. Eventually he offered himself for Christian baptism.

The story closes for us in a memorable scene: A faraway mission is going on in a room full of Moslem converts, some Egyptian, some Syrian. It is in honor of the young Sudanese who is about to start for Arabia, there to witness for Christ in the land of Mohammed himself—a triumph of unofficial missionary enterprise!—Youth's Companion.

Ancient Cathay.

Cathay is an old name for China, said to have been introduced into Europe by Marco Polo, the celebrated Venetian traveler, who is said to have lived from 1252 to 1324. The word Cathay is corrupted from the Tartar name, Khatal, that is, the country of the Khitans, who occupied the northern portion of the Chinese empire at the time of the Mongol invasion.

The word is used by Tennyson in these well-known lines:
Through the shadow of the globe
We sweep into the younger day.
Better fifty years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay.

Exactly the Thing.

A fussy dame entered a boardwalk drug store and demanded a summer novel—something suitable to read on the beach. The clerk, who was very anxious to please, echoed her request.

"Something suitable for the beach?"

"That's it. For the beach," she repeated.

He rummaged around under the counter and arose triumphant.

"Here is just the thing for the beach, madam. A book by that Spanish novelist—'Blood and Sand.'"

Needlessly Disturbed.

Mabel was trying to cross a busy street. The young man who lives next door happened along and gallantly offered to see her across. No sooner had they started, however, than he insisted on taking Mabel's hand. This she resented. He did it under the pretense of keeping her from being struck by an automobile, a flimsy excuse the girl thought. She promptly went home and told her mother. But her mother said the young man was quite in the right.

The fact is, Mabel is only five years old.

The Crime.

"We are all ready to start the game," said the captain of the first convict team.

"So are we," responded the captain of the second convict team.

"But who will umpire the game?"

"Well, let's get the game warden."

suggested the captain of the first convict team.—Ohio State Sun Dial.

Elusive.

"Who is that?"

"Our office boy."

"I see him around constantly, but what does he do?"

"He is too smart for any of us to find out."

Market Report

ENTIRE STOCK LIST
DISLAYS HEAVY TONE

Total stock sales 651,300
shares.
Twenty industrials averaged 92.04; net loss .09.
High 1923—105.38; low

Twenty railroads averaged

High 1923—90.63; low 76.75.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23—Irregular and inconclusive price movements characterized today's stock market with the entire list displaying a heavy tone during most of the session. Except in the few issues which were bid up or hampered down for individual reasons, professional interests showed a disposition to await further developments bearing on the economic situation before extending their commitments. Pool operations were virtually suspended in a number of issues and so-called public buying was again at a low ebb.

Unfavorable coal strike and repairs notes resulted in a rather large volume of overnight selling orders which gave the market heavy appearance at the start.

These offerings were fairly well absorbed, however, altho individual points of weakness continued to drop out during the day.
Gulf states steel were again pushed up on southern buying closing 13 higher at $24. Bethlehem closed fractionally higher but the other independents showed little or no change on the day.

United States Steel moved
with a radius of one point, closing 4 lower.

One of the features of today's session was the heavy buying of General Motors in the last hour
several blocks of 5,000 shares
each changing hands at 15 1/4;
1. Mack Truck showed a net gain of 2 points but the other automotive shares showed little strength. Strength of the Erie issues was based on reports that the railroads coal company had perfected a new selling arrangement for its coal which would bring it increased income.

Erie common touched 15, closing slightly below that for a gain of 1 1/2; the first preferred advanced 2 1/2 and the second preferred
1 1/2.

U. S. government bonds were slightly reactionary.

MODERATE SUPPLY
PREVENTS WEAKENING
CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—After a half cent decline on some of the scores, the moderate supply of butter on the street prevented any further weakening of cheese
in the market here today. Dealers generally were free sellers but those who were willing to shade prices were few and far between. Lack of confidence among the buyers however, caused trading to be light. Fine butter was scarce and some premiums were reported. Other scores moved slowly at prices close to those below quoted.

More cars were sold and considerable inquiry was reported at once near sellers asking prices.

will produce both. Listen
to this sad story:
Dr. Mary Reesor, of the New York Health Foundation says, "Women have had only limited success at keeping well." She states that examination of a large group of women in industrial establishments, showed that sixty-five per cent suffered from digestive troubles. Of students at the summer school of one of our largest colleges for women, twenty-one per cent
had indigestion, fifty-one per cent constipation, thirty three per cent had dys-
menorrhea, or painful menstruation, and fifty-five per cent had something the matter with their feet.

CAPT. T. H. JERVEY

The first promising automatic annon to be brought by the United States ordnance department to a point where it can be tested is shown as the Jervey gun, from the name of its inventor, Capt. Thomas H. Jervey, ordnance department, J. S. A. It is of 37 mm. caliber and is fully automatic and can be used in the air, on the ground, against aircraft and against tanks. The Jervey gun shoots one-and-one-eighth-pound shells of either high explosive or armor-piercing type in bursts of five.

STATE HOUSE TOPS NATIONAL CAPITAL

Springfield. —(By The Associated Press).—Although the national capital at Washington
impresses the visitor with its hugeness and its height, the dome of the Illinois state-house tops the dome of the national capital by 74 feet, according to official statistics collected by Mrs. Jessie Palmer Webber,
librarian of the Illinois State Historical Library.

The Illinois statehouse usually is not rated among the higher buildings of the world, but it is shown to be higher than many more famous ones. It is taller by one foot than the beautiful dome built by Sir Christopher Wren for St. Paul's London and the bell tower of St. Marks, Venice.

From the ground to the dome it measures 361 feet. If the height of the flagstaff were computed as part of the total, it would measure 405 feet. The national capital at Washington
is 287 feet and 5 inches tall.
Adding to this the height of the statue of Freedom, the total would be 307 feet.

Some of the other comparative dimensions, however, give some idea of the massiveness of the national dome and the national capital as compared to the one here. The rotunda at Washington is 97½ feet in diameter, whereas the foundation of the dome at Springfield is 92½ feet in diameter. To support the statehouse dome the walls were made 17 feet thick.

PUTTING STATE FAIR GROUNDS IN SHAPE

Springfield. —(By the A. P.).—
Work in putting the Illinois State Fair grounds in shape for the big annual exposition opening September 15 is now well under way with 150 men employed remodeling and renovating the various buildings. W. W. Lindley, general manager of the fair announced today.

Twenty-one buildings are being roofed and 43 are getting a fresh coat of paint. The plumbing all over the grounds is being overhauled and about two-thirds of it is being replaced. Forty carpenters, 30 plumbers, 30 roofers and 35 painters are at work in addition to a number of laborers
throughout the grounds.

The weekly payroll has mounted to between $4,000 to $5,000.
The last general assembly reduced the appropriation for remodeling the buildings from $100,000
to $50,000, requiring the strictest economy in accomplishing the necessary repairs by the time the fair opens.

Livestock Entries — The livestock exhibits will be of their usual high standard, reports indicate.
A program of races and attractions rivaling the best of other years is being prepared.

WARM OCEAN CURRENTS BRING MILD NIGHTS

London.—The greater warmth of the water surrounding the Faroe Islands, in the North Sea, has caused the temperature of the Islands to undergo a radical change during the last few months.

Scientific investigations have shown that a warm ocean stream from the south is encircling the Islands, and that great quantities of strange fish scales have been washed ashore. These scales belong to a type of octopus that inhabits western European waters,
but hitherto has not been known to exist north of the south coast of England.

The temperature of the Islands has been steadily increasing and the vegetation has grown more rapidly. The nights, which usually are cold, have become very mild.
